THE POWER OF PLACE: PRESERVATION MONTH

National Preservation Month, which occurs each May, is a month-long celebration dedicated to recognizing the importance of historic places and promoting their preservation. Its aim is to instill national and community pride, encourage heritage tourism, and highlight the social and economic benefits of preserving historic places.

The people of Pittsford value historic preservation, recognizing its contributions to the Town and Village's unique character, quality of life, and economic vitality. And Pittsford certainly holds a significant place in the early history of New York State: the Village of Pittsford was the first village established in the State of New York.

The land where the Town of Pittsford now stands initially served as hunting grounds for the Seneca Nation. In 1789, Revolutionary War veterans Simon and Israel Stone established the first permanent settlement in what is now Monroe County. Israel Stone built the first house in Pittsford; today, its location is marked with a historic sign. (You can find it in the Village near the Erie Canal on State Street.) Pittsford holds the distinction of having the first school, library, permanent church, post office, newspaper and the first doctor and lawyer to practice in Monroe County.

In 1991, members of the newly created Pittsford Historic Preservation Commission inventoried, studied, and interviewed property owners. To date, they have designated a total of 60 landmarks, including one historic district. You can read more about the historic designation process on the Town's website.

Monroe County has placed several historical markers in Pittsford that highlight the County's past. Included is the Seneca Trail, a main trail of the Seneca Nation. An "On This Spot" historic marker on NYS 64 marks the location where the very first Monroe County schoolhouse, built in 1794, stood.

The National Register of Historic Places has seven Pittsford properties listed, as well as the entire Village of Pittsford, designated as a Historic District. The Hildreth-Lord-Hawley Farm, the Hopkins Farm, the Adolph Lomb House, the Oak Hill Country Club, the Phoenix Building, the Spring House, and the Thomas Youngs House are included on the registry.

Read more about the history of Pittsford on the Town of Pittsford website, which includes in-depth articles by former Town historian Audrey Johnson and a list of the Town's historic designations and markers.

Here are some additional local history resources, perfect for parents, educators, and history buffs:

Town & Village of Pittsford Historian: Our Town and Village Historian, Vicki Masters Profitt, maintains and preserves the historical records of the Town of Pittsford. She has the crucial job of acting as the keeper, interpreter, and advocate for the unique stories and heritage of our community. The historian holds office hours each Thursday from 11:00 to 3:00pm (closed Thursday, May 29), or by appointment. Call 585-248-6245 for more information or to make an appointment.

Historic Pittsford: Historic Pittsford is a 501(c)(3) non-profit, volunteer organization incorporated in 1965 and chartered under the New York State Department of Education. Its mission is to provide leadership, advocacy, and education to preserve Pittsford's diverse historic resources. It serves the community by providing free architectural consultations, historic home plaques, and each year, they award preservation scholarships to students, community organizations, and individuals who contribute to supporting their mission and goals. Check out the links & resources page on their website for Pittsford-related history.

Historic Pittsford currently has two upcoming events scheduled: a Voices of the Past Cemetery Tour at the Pioneer Burying Ground on Sunday, June 1 at 12:30pm, and a History of Preservation in the Village tour on Saturday, June 21, from 10:00am to 12:00pm. Find out more about these events and purchase tickets on Historic Pittsford's website.

The Little House: Historic Pittsford's headquarters is in the heart of the Village at 18 Monroe Avenue and boasts a long, varied history. The Little House, staffed by members of Historic Pittsford, opens for visitors on the first Saturday of each month. It serves as their office as well as a museum.

As National Preservation Month reminds us, Pittsford's deep roots and commitment to its historical treasures enrich the present and ensure a vibrant legacy for future generations.
